Observations... From Around Town

By the Editor

J. Whozit is no more—observations will be written by the editor for the time being—the $64 question—who ordered the bingo games closed? The city commissioners positively did not—Sheriff Johnson says he did not—could it be that a sympathetic shut down was ordered by the boys in charge of the rackets to create a blue law atmosphere particularly among the ladies who spend an evening of pastime at the bingo tables, in order to attempt to pressure the return of slot machines—if so it boomeranged—the sheriff says he expects to cooperate with the city commissioners as to their wishes in the slot machine matter in Bay St. Louis and that the reports are that he expect to enforce the blue laws in Bay St. Louis if the slot machines are not returned are without foundation and were rumors—the bingo games have reopened . . . our good friend Red Morgan the southern district member of the Mississippi public service commission has acted to stay the increase in commuters rates by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad company which were to go into effect August 1. An appeal has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and a hearing will be held—a real service has been rendered by Red Morgan now it is up to us on the Coast to battle the increase the balance of the way, so get your fighting clothes on . . . it means much to us and if it goes into effect we are going to lose some valuable people in Bay St. Louis and Waveland . . . our heart and those of many others thumped with joy this morning when T. E. Keller and Sons, contractors for the fill on the beach boulevard started work—the first day more than 500 yards of dirt was hauled by four trucks—Mr. Keller expects to place not less than 1000 yards per day, the weather permitting—the street between the postoffice and the Baptist church is in a deplorable condition—a little simple engineering and grading to drain the water to the man hole recently installed will solve the situation—how about it Mayor and commissioners—you will make many of the ladies who have to park there to go to the postoffice and to church happy . . . faith in the future of Bay St. Louis is what it will take to build it—McDonald Realty company is really exemplifying this spirit—they have constructed many homes here and are presently constructing a commercial building at the corner of Main and Second street, and a group of homes on deMontluzin avenue—while on the subject of deMontluzin avenue we should tip our hats to John Horlock and Terrell Perkins for the development, and to Roger Heitzmann, George Heitzmann and others who pioneered this subdivision—it is truly a street of nice homes . . . the coast as a whole should be thankful to the crewmen of the fire boats of the Merchant Marine Cadet school and the state highway department—their work saved the bridge over the Bay of St. Louis from destruction by fire last Friday . . . Mississippi is really developing a great team in the halls of congress—Bill Colmer in the House and John Stennis in the Senate—It hurt us to see our good friend Bill Colmer defeated in his hope to realize a cherished ambition, a seat in the United States Senate, but it has perhaps redounded to the best interest of our state—Bill Colmer is, and has been, an outstanding member of Congress—through his efforts at this session appropriations for work on the Gulfport Harbor, aid for the retention of the Merchant Marine Cadet Training school at Henderson Point, which were not recommended by the President, were passed by the house at the instance of Mr. Colmer, and when the bill reached the Senate, John Stennis took up the fight and were passed in that branch of our national legislature—the bill for king oil parity passed the house and is on its way to the Senate—even with the fight being carried on against the Southern members, particularly those from Mississippi, Bill Colmer and John Stennis command the respect and admiration of their colleagues—they are statesmen not demagogues—as much as we hated to see John Stennis defeat Bill, we are now pleased with the results and look forward to the day when we shall be privileged to cast our vote for these two outstanding Mississippians whose loyalty is to their state and their people . . . Johnny Scafield left last week for the training camp of the Buffalo Bison professional football team—he is assistant coach—following the training season he will return to Bay St. Louis to await the opening of the college season and from then out he will scout for his team.

TWO MEN, WOMAN HELD FOR THEFT

Two men are in the county jail charged with theft of an automobile and numerous household articles, B. D. Johnson, sheriff, said. Also held as a material witness by county law enforcement officers is a young woman, the wife of one of the alleged thieves. They are Bobby Waters, 22, Charles Bolesquie, 29, and Doris Waters, 21. The trio was picked up near Logtown by Hancock county deputies Monday. Deputy Sheriff Bill Johnson and Constable Bat Carver got on their trail last week after the group had looted several homes along the beach. When arrested they were in a 1949 Ford automobile reported stolen at Valdosta, Ga. Sheriff B. D. Johnson and Deputy Paul Biehoff made two trips to New Orleans to recover the loot from pawn shops in that city. The recovered articles include several rifles, radios, clocks, toasters, vacuum cleaners, and clothing. The presence of the car stolen in another state brings the case under the jurisdiction of federal law enforcement officers, Sheriff Johnson said. After action by the federal authorities, he continued, county officials will put a detainer on them pending further action by the county.

ICC Nips Commuter Train Rate Increase Slated For August 1

Commuter rate increase scheduled by the Louisville and Nashville railroad to go into effect August 1 were nipped by action of the Interstate Commerce commission, F. E. Gillis, rate expert with the state public service commission, said in Jackson Saturday.

The increase, proposed over a year ago and at one time approved by the ICC, was ordered suspended pending further investigation into the proposed changes. The stay order came after a petition signed by interested citizens along the Mississippi Gulf Coast was filed with the ICC.

Representing a substantial increase, the tariff filed by the L & N requesting permission to raise the rates would cancel outright the 62-trip per month book. It would raise the cost of the 54-trip books, Bay St. Louis to New Orleans, from $19.91 to $27.92, while the price on 46-trips would be raised from $18.80 to $23.78, and on 10-trips from $7.25 to $9.05.

This amounts to an average increase of one quarter cent per mile, from the present three quarter cents to one cent per mile.

Investigation by the ICC will get underway in the near future with hearings for both the railroad and citizens affected.

"If the folks down here speak up for it they may get the hearings in Gulfport," Mr. Gillis said. No date has yet been set for the investigation, and requests for the hearing to be held in this area should be filed with the Interstate Commerce commission, Washington, D. C.

City Gets Third Anti-Insect Squirt, More Contributions Are Necessary

The third spraying of the current fight against insects and pests was accomplished Tuesday night with Wayne Alliston of the city health department accompanying George Mitchell, insect controller, on his rounds.

The next four sprayings will be done 15 days apart and will carry the project up through September Mr. Mitchell said.

As during previous rounds, the dump and low spots in town were given specially heavy portions of the five per cent DDT and diesel fuel solution. Continued effectiveness of the campaign against insects has been reported from various quarters, and a great reduction of flies, mosquitoes and other insects should result for the remainder of the year.

Interested citizens are urged to send in their checks immediately. Those who have contributed during the past week are: Mrs. T. B. Sellers, $10; J. J. Kelleher, $10; Joseph Perry, $2; H. W. Osoinach, $5; Joseph D. Benedetto, $5; R. L. Genin, $5; F. P. Higgins, $10; M. L. Hill, $5; Sam Whitfield, $10; Emmett Demoran, $10; Mrs. Louis B. Pate, $2; H. J. Thompson, $5.

Mail contributions to "Chamber of Commerce Insect Spray Program, care of O. W. Delph, Box 38, Bay St. Louis.

KATIE GARCIA DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Katie Lafontaine Garcia, of this city, died in a New Orleans hospital Sunday, July 31 at 4 p. m. following a long illness. Her funeral was held Tuesday at 4 p. m. from the Fahey Funeral Home with religious services at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic church. Burial was in the Bayou Cadet cemetery.

Surviving are two children, Charles Garcia and Virgil Lee Garcia, and two stepchildren, Mrs. John Lively of Biloxi and Mrs. L. L. Trapp of Mobile. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Emma Favre, and two brothers, Sidney and Asa Lafontaine all of Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Garcia was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Coburn Lafontaine and was a native of Lake Shore.

Father Desmond conducted the religious services and the pallbearers were Carl A. Favre, Coburn J. Favre, Lawrence Lafontaine, Owen Lafontaine, Edwin Lafontaine and Milton Lafontaine.

Mrs. E. G. Hosmer and son, Harry Hosmer, will arrive this week from Dallas, Texas, for a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Rene deMontluzin, Jr. and Mr. deMontluzin.

Rural Phone Bill Passes House, Moves To Senate

The Poage rural telephone bill was overwhelmingly approved by the house of Representatives recently and moved on to the Senate where it is now in committee.

The House vote was 282 to 109 in favor of the bill with every Mississippi Congressman in full support of the measure.

Emerging from the House virtually as reported out of Committee, the bill would amend the present REA act to provide for rural telephone loans. There were only two amendments to the bill as submitted by Texas' Representative W. R. Poage. Both were fully acceptable to the bill's sponsor.

One of these amendments empowered the REA administrator to determine whether loans would effect duplication of lines in any case where there was no state commission having authority to issue certificates of convenience and necessity. The other authorized the use of funds for consolidation as well as acquisition of existing lines.

Lobbies of both the American Telephone and Telegraph companies vigorously opposed the measure. They claimed that all except backward areas are adequately served by private communications enterprises and that extension of REA to include communications in its services, along with electric power is but another step toward socialization of public utilities.

Mississippi Congressmen who took positive stands in support of the bill were William Colmer, John Bell Williams, John Rankin, Jamie L. Whitten, Arthur Winstead, Will Whittington, and Thomas C. Abernathy.

A member of the Agriculture subcommittee of the House Appropriations committee, Congressman Abernathy was instrumental in getting the bill favorably reported out of committee.

Congressman Colmer of the Rules committee also was influential in guiding the bill on the floor.

R. E. A. DAY IS PLANNED

R. E. A. Day has been officially set for Saturday, October 8. H. H. Shatford, manager of the Coast Electric Power association, announced today.

This year's program is bigger and better than ever before so make plans in advance.

Urges Forest Protection

Along several of the main highways in Harrison, Hancock, and Pearl River counties can be seen several Scotchlight signs constructed by personnel of the Mississippi Forest Service and sponsored by different organizations and civic clubs in those counties. Those signs reflect a keen interest being taken by citizens regarding fire control and timber management in this area. Forest Guardian clubs and other childrens groups were also instrumental in sponsoring these signs.

Due to the improved organization such as better trained personnel, backing of local citizens and, also, having mechanized equipment for fire suppression work, the 1948 and 1949 season has the best fire protection record in the state. In June 1948, 25 fires burned 363.5 acres in Hancock county, compared with June 1949 when there were only 3 fires that burned 10 acres. In Harrison county 7 fires burned 210.5 acres in June 1948, while in June 1949 Harrison county had 9 fires but lost only 56.5 acres. This decline in burned acres has been noted throughout the entire fire season, and has brought burned acres down to almost half as many in any previous season.

Woodland owners are becoming more forestry minded and are realizing that timber is one of the greatest assets in south Mississippi, therefore being more cooperative in protecting their forest lands from hazardous forest fires which is our forest's greatest enemy.

Realizing that the conservation problem will have to be met on an educational basis, the Mississippi Forest Service has carried shows and other educational matter into all rural schools throughout the state, showing films on fire control and timber management, thereby supplementing the use of the forestry text book which is now being used throughout the state by seventh grade students.

Training Course For Bus Drivers To Be Held Here

A bus drivers training course will be held in Bay St. Louis August 25, 26, and 27. E. E. Breland, Hancock county superintendent of Education, announced today.

One of 115 such courses scheduled to be held in Mississippi this summer, the local session will be under the supervision of the state vocational department. All courses run for two and a half days or a total of 20 hours, Mr. Breland said.

A minimum of 10 drivers is required for each class while no class will exceed 20. All drivers of county owned busses are required to attend, the superintendent said. He urged all school bus drivers in the county to make plans to be present.

The training course instructors will be paid by the vocational department which sponsors the program.

Study space for the Bay Saint Louis course has been obtained in the Bay St. Louis High school, Mr. Breland said. Courses to be included in the program will deal with the proper care and handling of busses, proper methods of picking up and discharging passengers. Both class room work and actual practice will also be included.

The state highway department will assist in the vocational department in the project. Highway patrolmen will be here on one of the three days to aid in the instructions.

Community Band Schedules Dance

The Bay St. Louis community band under the direction of George Wimberly, director at Bay High School, will sponsor a dance Saturday, August 6. The dance, to begin at 8 p. m. and last until 12, will be held at the Bay High gym. Admission is $1 per couple, 50 cents stag.

Music will be furnished by the dance orchestra composed of members of the Community concert band. The purpose of the dance is to raise money in order that an outing may be given for band members who have attended rehearsals regularly. Good music for your listening pleasure is promised by the orchestra, and soft drinks will be available to assure all of an enjoyable evening.

Sunday, August 7 at 5 a. m. the band will present a concert at the City Park. The program, devoted entirely dance music, will feature the dance orchestra only. The last concert of the current season will be given at the Park August 15 with both band and orchestra participating.

SUMMER RECREATION PROGRAM RESUMES

The summer recreation program for boys which was interrupted two weeks ago because of the increase of polio in the state will resume its activities Monday at 2 p. m. on the baseball diamond Coach Ellis Guillory announced today.

The program will run for two more weeks before closing for the summer. Additional activities are planned and two full weeks are ahead for the boys participating, the Coach said.

He urges all boys interested to attend the Monday meeting so that their class, which depend upon the number of participants, can be completed.

New Chief Is Initiated At NAAS

Harold Poyadou, son of Eddie Poyadou of Bay St. Louis, was recently promoted to chief petty officer at the Whiting Field Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Milton, Fla.

Initiated in traditional naval style last month, Poyadou was the first enlisted man to make chief at Whiting Field since the end of the war. In winning the promotion he finished twelfth in the country.

A native of Bay St. Louis, Chief Poyadou now resides in Mobile with his wife and two children, in a home he built himself in his spare time off duty.

The initiation which the newly promoted chief underwent at the field consisted of a dunking in the base's swimming pool and a specially prepared dinner out of a specially constructed trough with special two-foot utensils. Dinner included everything from beer to nuts and cigarette butts. Chief Poyadou enlisted in the Navy in 1941 and served in the Pacific during the war. He wears the American defense service medal, with one star, the American Theater ribbon, the Victory Service Medal, the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon and the Good Conduct medal with one star.

Bay Bridge Fire Damage Repairs Begun; To Be Complete In Week

COMMISSION COUNCIL CONSIDERS PURCHASE OF WATER PURIFIER

Plans to purchase a permanent chlorination system for the Bay St. Louis water works were considered at the commission council meeting last week.

"Like other coast cities, Bay St. Louis should use a chlorinator to guard against pollution that might occur in the water system," Dr. Clarence Shipp, county health officer, said Tuesday.

At last week's council meeting George Carmichael of the state board of health met with the commissioners to discuss the purchase of a chlorinating system.

It was agreed that Bay St. Louis would create a problem since the city has three wells in scattered locations and the water would have to be pumped to a central location where the process could begin.

At present the Bay water system is periodically treated by applying the chemical by hand. This method is effective to a certain extent, but naturally is not a safeguard against pollution that may get into the system at any time after the chlorination has been done. The Bay water system was treated three weeks ago.

100 PERCENT COVERAGE

In order to overcome the difficulty arising from the location of the city wells it was suggested that one large chlorinator could be placed near the two main water wells behind Bay High School. These two wells supply more than two thirds of the city's water supply.

By using the well on St. Charles street as little as possible or by placing a small chlorinator there, the city water works could get 100 per cent coverage, Mr. Carmichael said.

GAS OR POWDER?

Two types of chlorinators would work satisfactorily on the Bay Water system. One type of gas chlorinator, the type suggested for installation near the city's two main wells would cost approximately $17,000. A smaller type of "hypo" chlorinator costs about $3,000.

The larger, more expensive equipment, has a great advantage in the fact that it uses chlorine vapor which sells for 10 cents per pound. The "hypo" apparatus employs powdered chlorine which retails for 23 cents per pound. It is estimated that two pounds per day will be used in keeping the water supply pure and uncontaminated.

Both types of machine are very serviceable, the health department agent said. All parts are replaceable, making for ready maintenance.

NO TASTE

The Bay St. Louis water system particularly needs constant chlorination, Carmichael warned. Since the hurricanes of 1947 and 1948 which, somewhat damaged the system, pipes have been exposed making danger of contamination a greater possibility. Installation of the chlorinator will not greatly affect the taste of the city's water supply. Chlorine when properly applied and when used in proper quantities will leave no foreign tastes, Carmichael stated.

In the beginning a reddish color in the water will result as the chlorine acts on various substances in the pipe. After a few days, however, the inside of the pipes will be totally cleansed and all disagreeable color and tastes will disappear.

Baptist Youth Meeting Is Held

The Prayer Warriors, an organization of young people of the First Baptist church presented a program for the Womens Missionary Society at the church Tuesday afternoon.

Shirley Favre, president. The meeting was opened with the song "America the Beautiful." Mary Favre gave the devotion from the book of the Scripture from the book of Matthew "Go Ye Therefore Into All the World and Teach the Gospel," a poem of missions and a plea for help in foreign fields. This was followed by the song "How Firm a Foundation." A recitation "How a Shanghai Boy Found Christ," was given by Jane Wilson and Mary Ramsey. Betty Green gave an interesting account of the conversion of "The Weaver of the Mists."

A short skit was given with Ann Wilson coming in as a visitor wanting to know just what type of program the society gives and what missionary work it does. In the form of questions and answers, this method brought out many interesting points about the work of the society. Participating in it were Shirley Favre, Marie Campbell, Mary Favre, Betty Green and Jane Wilson. The program closed with the Lords Prayer. Members of the Prayer Warriors besides those mentioned are Gerry Middleton, associate, director, Dolores Bernard, Herman Poillion, Ada Mitchell, Irene Lee, Patsy Favre, Peggy DeHaan, Janet Breland, Loreta Favre, Robert Bressler and Nell, Burge, Shirley Favre is the director. The Prayer Warriors was organized by Ralph Young, who conducted the singing here during the recent revival at the church.

CONCERTED EFFORTS

The action of the board of supervisors of Hancock County in setting aside an appropriation of $20,000 for work on the Beach in Bay St. Louis, which has been started, is to be commended.

This shows the results of concerted efforts of business and civic leaders with elected officials where there is mutual understanding and a definite program outlined.

We should also be grateful to Commissioners Ladner and Glover for directing the chief of police to remove the slot machines in Bay St. Louis in their determined stand to rid the city of syndicated racket control; a breeding ground for conspiracy, corruption, bribery and racketeer domination.

Their action bespeaks that we may now have the hope of good, clean, honest, legally constituted government by men who regard their solemn oaths.

Many rumors of intimidation and counteraction by other law enforcement agencies in the County have been prevalent throughout the past week. These are mere scarecrows which are being brought forth by men with the lure of ill-gotten gold still sparkling before them who should be rendering services to build a bigger and better Bay St. Louis and Hancock county on solid economic foundations.

These two young officers stood their grounds in the face of intimidation and threats, and have given their people the answer they hoped for in return for the vote of confidence given them; the only echo from our bewildered young Mayor was, "I have been consulted, but do not favor it," and it was he who said he heard the loud voice of the people.

The cry from the wilderness should reach the ear of our civic and business leaders who are interested in the welfare and upbuilding of our city. They should analyze the action of our two public bodies on these matters which mean so much to the progress of our community, realizing that our officials need their moral support. Much can be accomplished when there is mutual understanding and when selfish motives are cast aside, joining all in a definite program for the benefit of our urban and rural population.

Opportunities are ever present, and the opportunity for service is outstanding. The key to the advancement and progress we make is in the hands of every man, woman, and child in Hancock county.

Congressional Sidelights

The old biennial House fight over the poll tax was re-enacted for the fifth time in the House the past week. Since it's impossible under the rules of procedure in the House to "kill-buster," it was evident from the beginning that the bill would pass the House. While the little band of Southern Representatives who better organized this year than ever before, they could only fight a delaying action. This was confined largely to a series of roll calls, the only weapon available under the rules of the House. The steering group, made up of one member from each Southern State representing the Southern members who organized last year to fight the President's Civil Rights program, had a series of strategy meetings prior to the calling up of the bill by Chairman Norton of New Jersey, an administration stalwart. Every conceivable parliamentary maneuver of a delaying nature was resorted to.

The closest call came on a motion to adjourn the House. When this motion was made by prearrangement, as soon as the House convened, and when only a few of the members had gathered in the Chamber, the adjournment motion carried on a standing vote. Whereupon, Congressman Hays of Ohio objected to the vote on the ground that a quorum was not present. We raised a point of order to this parliamentary move, which was sustained. The opposition was at a loss as to its next move. Then Speaker Rayburn made a most unusual move and suggested the proper procedure would be a request for the yeas and nays. The motion was made and the absentees were brought in, and when the vote was taken the House refused to adjourn. It is significant that on all of these votes the Northern Democrats voted solidly with the administration. The sole opposition came from the members south of the Mason-Dixon line, with the exception of twenty-four courageous Republicans who defied the Society for the Advancement of Colored People and the C. I. O. The bill now goes to the Senate, where unlimited debate is permissible, and where it's generally conceded that the bill will again be pigeon-holed.

was taken the House refused to adjourn.

As we have repeatedly pointed out, both here and upon the floor of the House, we hold no brief for the poll tax as such. But, we do maintain that this proposal is unquestionably unconstitutional. We hold further that if the Congress of the United States can legally and constitutionally pass a law which says that a state can not have a poll tax as a requisite for voting, what, if any qualifications a state can require for voting. Thus the sovereignty of the state and the control of its legislative machinery are shifted from the state to the Federal government. Therein lies the danger of such legislation. It is but another parcel of the overall plan to centralize the government in Washington at the expense of local self-government. Therefore, it follows that the so-called liberals who foster this type of legislation, under the guise of giving additional freedoms to the people, would in the end but achieve the lessening of the freedom of the individual.

When this matter was being considered by the committee which reported the bill we appeared and made a rather extensive statement in opposition to it. Anyone interested in obtaining this statement may drop me a post card, and I will be glad to send it to him.

LOCAL SAILOR WITH NAVY IN AMPHIBIOUS TRAINING PROGRAM

Roy Anthony Moran, U. S. N., son of Mrs. R. A. Moran of 102 Cue St. is on active duty aboard the U. S. S. Noble, A. P. 48 which took part in the most extensive amphibious training operation of its kind ever staged by the U. S. Navy.

The training program, completed at midnight, July 30, was conducted at the Naval Amphibious Base, Little Creek, Va. and in nearby waters. It was designed to provide general indoctrination in the basic principals of amphibious warfare for 2,100 NROTC midshipmen from 52 colleges, 5280 Marine reserve officers and men, and 330 officers of the U. S. Air Force.

Moran's ship participated in the attack phase of the operation during which conditions of actual amphibious warfare were authentically simulated. A total of 22 ships, ranging from large attack transports through smaller craft of many types, formed the attack group operating off Little Creek and Camp Pendleton, Va. under the command of Rear Admiral L. A. Thacker, USN. These carried a total complement of approximately 3,400 officers and men. Little Creek, Va., naval exercises enabled the NROTC midshipmen to receive their amphibious training from men with wide experience in actual amphibious warfare. Many of the officers and men of the attack force are veterans of amphibious assault operations during World War II.

Moran has been on active duty with the Navy since Nov. 14, 1945.

County Agents Notes

By: Howard Simmons

SELECT LAYING HENS

Hens should have to pay their board bill to stay in the laying stock. Poultrymen can sell molters and broody hens as a means of boosting egg profits and curbing feed costs. Broody hens will consume as much feed as producing hens. Early molters are notoriously poor egg producers.

Markets are short on good, fat hens.

Dispose of all two-year-old hens and give their places to young birds. Pullets are more profitable layers than hens.

With a little practice, one can learn to select non-layers by sight. It is a good practice to sell hens with shriveled combs, yellow beaks and those beginning to neck molt.

Do not wait for a complete molt to start or yellow pigment to come back into the shanks. When a hen goes out of production and starts a general molt she begins to lose her best market condition.

Hens that start molting in August or before rarely if ever start laying again until the molt is completed. Many poultrymen make it a rule to sell all hens that stop laying before September 1.

County agents will give further help about selecting non-laying hens.

WATCH CROWS' FEET

Foot trouble can cause loss of production of dairy cows. Such trouble is sometimes an infection known as "foul foot".

"Foul foot" has a number of causes. Animals may step on each other's feet during shipment, detting up irritation which develops into infection.

Bruising between the toes may occur when cows step on rocks buried under soft mud. Animals develop foot trouble after standing in poorly drained, uncleaned barn lots.

Infection can come from wire cuts or from foreign bodies which lodge in the hoof. Irritation and puncture wounds can result when cattle are pastured on recently mowed, coarse forage crops. Screw worm damage is another cause.

Remove causes of "foul foot" infection, farmers are urged.

Intravenous injections of certain medicines now help to correct "foul foot" infection in most cases, according to a group of southern veterinarians. Prevention of conditions which lead to the trouble is still the best thing to do, it was pointed out.

HORN FLY CONTROL

Cattle may be weakened during the summer by attacks from small black blood sucking horn flies.

Damage can be as great as loss of one-half pound gain per day per head of beef cattle, or about 15 per cent less milk from dairy cows.

Spraying with methoxychlor is the latest recommended control.

If a compressed air sprayer is used, mix one cupful of 50 per cent methoxychlor to three gallons of water.

Ammate, Cheap, Effectively Kills Low-Value Trees

Thousands of acres in Hancock and Harrison counties are covered with blackjack oak and other low-value hardwood trees that must be reduced or cleared out before good timber can grow, according to T. V. Marlar, area ranger of the Mississippi Forest Service.

Many landowners have found poisoning with ammate an effective and economical method of killing these undesirable hardwoods and of getting the land back into production, he said.

Ammate, when properly applied, kills trees faster than girdling, and treated trees sprout less than those that are girdled or chopped down. Stands of sprouts can be killed by spraying with a strong water solution of ammate. Ammate is poisonous only to plants. This gives a big advantage over other poisons which may be fatal to animals as well as plants.

To keep down sprouting, trees poisoned with ammate should be left standing for at least a year, the ranger instructs. Ammate solution is absorbed by the tree almost instantly, and crystallizes within 24 to 36 hours, but the poison works for 18 months or more.

Trees too small to cut or grill should be cut down close to the ground, leaving a "V" shaped stump. One tablespoon of ammate crystals immediately to each freshly cut stump. Sprouting will almost be eliminated, especially if treatment is applied in the early fall or late summer.

Sprouts are harder and more expensive to kill than large trees, Mr. Marlar pointed out. They can be controlled by spraying the green leaves thoroughly with a 32.4% solution of ammate. Any good pressure spray gun can be used. Let the sprouts stand for a year after treating.

For further information concerning your timber land, contact T. V. Marlar, the local area ranger, Box 245, Lyman, Miss. He will be glad to assist and advise you on the use of this tree poison or any other forest management problems with which you may be confronted.

—Winners last week in the skating rink tackey party were Patsy Horlock as the tackiest young lady and Jimmy McArthur for being the tackiest young man.

For a power sprayer, mix one pound, or four cupfuls, of 50 per cent methoxychlor to 12 gallons of water. Wet back and sides of animal thoroughly. In extreme hot weather, wet underline of animal.

Repeat spraying as needed during the summer.

Infants Get VD Through Mother; Cure Is Possible

This is the second in a series of articles in cooperation with the National campaign against venereal diseases. Prepared by the state department of public health, the articles are frank, objective, and informative. Last week's story was concerned with symptoms of syphilis.

Congenital syphilis can be prevented by treatment of the mother before the fifth month of pregnancy in almost all cases. A baby born with syphilis has always acquired this infection from the mother.

It is absolutely essential for expectant mothers to have regular blood tests during each pregnancy and for several months afterwards to protect the baby and herself. It is comparatively simple for the syphilis germ in the mother's blood stream to enter the blood stream of the baby.

It is estimated that more than three-fourths of all babies born of syphilitic mothers are either born dead or die in early infancy. It stands to reason that without treatment, it is an even worse tragedy in the lives of those children who live. The fact that many of these children will eventually become public charges makes it a community problem.

A woman with syphilis may infect her unborn child at any time during her pregnancy. The child may acquire syphilis from the mother if she had syphilis for many months or if she recently acquired it herself. In all cases of congenital syphilis, the mother is infected with syphilis, but not necessarily the father. There are instances of a syphilitic father of a healthy child and conversely a syphilitic child may have a healthy father.

Congenital syphilis can be entirely removed as one of the great dangers of childbirth by two simple methods. There are the regular blood test as part of all examinations of expectant mothers and treatment of the mother when necessary.

Syphilis in babies is much more severe and has a more profound effect on the body than a comparative case of syphilis in an adult because the body of the baby has not developed enough at that stage to fight off the infection to a great extent. As a result of this condition the baby is more likely to have lesions or sores over the body, especially on the rectal and facial areas, and the child usually is stricken much harder by the disease. Treatment of a syphilitic infant is a matter of actual preservation of life and not just a case of curing a disease because of the high death rate of babies born with syphilis.

Observations of treatment of syphilitic infants on a large scale show that babies can readily be cured of syphilis if treated adequately soon enough.

Cattle Infection Caused By Wet, Warm Weather

Jackson, Miss. — Widespread excitement and concern has been caused in practically all counties of Mississippi in recent weeks by the occurrence of two conditions in grazing cattle and horses.

In cattle the conditions known as stomatitis or trichostosis causes ulcers which may develop in the mouth and on the tongue causing pronounced salivation and failure to eat. Lesions may occur in the clefts of the hoofs and the animals become lame. This condition is caused primarily by fungi existing on certain pasture grasses. It is most prevalent after excessive rainfall followed by warm weather. The condition is not contagious and not transmissible from one animal to another.

Dr. H. C. Simmons, state veterinarian, advises that the first treatment should be the removal of affected cattle to dry lot. Soft brand feed and plenty of cool fresh water and shade should be given. Mild antiseptic solutions should be used on the eroded tissues.

In several sections horses and mules turned out to pasture pick up the hind legs and drooping head.

Dr. Simmons pointed out that this disease is frequently confused with sleeping sickness which is encephalomyelitis, a contagious and infectious disease also communicable to humans. Dr. Simmons advised that encephalomyelitis has occurred in some parts of the state in the past years and that in all suspicious cases a qualified veterinarian should be consulted before any vaccinations and treatments are attempted.

CONTROL HOOKWORM

Control of hookworm depends upon safe disposal for human excreta.

Slow progress has been made in Mississippi in controlling this disease, and it will never be controlled until each family has sanitary outdoor pit toilet or an indoor bathroom with water under pressure. Soil and grass are full of hookworm larvae waiting to re-enter the body.

Many diseases that at one time were annual threats have been stamped out. "All-out" programs against several diseases have met with much success.

Hookworm control depends upon each individual's personal sanitary habits and facilities. It cannot be treated, cured or prevented by one magic drug in one "quick shot."

During summer months, many children and adults go barefoot around the house and yard. Warm weather and frequent showers are perfect for the growth and development of hookworm larvae.

A study by the State Board of Health showed women and small children having specimens examined, and taking the treatment for hookworm, while fathers and older boys were not doing so. Diagnosis and treatment for a part of the family is not effective when they are re-infested at home by untreated family members.

FREEZING BUTTERBEANS

Butterbeans are a favorite for freezing to provide good eating the year around. Preparing them for freezing is easy.

First, choose varieties suitable for freezing. Suitable bush beans are Jackson Wonder and Henderson Bush, while pole ones are Caroline and Siera.

Gather while green and tender, and waste no time in preparing. Wash thoroughly and drain, being sure to remove soil before shelling.

Shell and sort, discarding discolored or damaged beans. Then again wash and drain.

Place a large kettle filled with boiling water on high heat, using a cover for the kettle. Dip about one pound of butterbeans into the rapidly boiling water for two or three minutes, depending upon the size of the beans. Count time from minute kettle is covered.

To hold the butterbeans under the boiling water, use a wire frying basket with a wire lid. However, a flour sack will do.

Chill sealed butterbeans at once, using iced or running cold water for two or three minutes. Drain, and out any beans that have turned white.

Pack into moisture-vapor-proof container. Leave one-half inch head space for regular pack. Wipe moisture from inside edges of the bag.

White beans may be cooked, puréed and chilled, then packed. Leave one inch head space for puréed beans.

Press out air, and heat-seal the bag. Use a curling iron or warm hand iron. A wooden box or other object of proper height is convenient for pressing the top of the bag with a hand iron.

Clermont Harbor News

The monthly meeting of the Blue Jean Garden Club of Clermont Harbor met Monday, July 25 at the home of Mrs. Karl Saleeby. After the roll call and reading of the minutes, the entrance prize, a small vase of roses, was won by Mrs. Kern. Following a general discussion, it was decided that the club colors would be blue and gold, to match its flower, the wild iris.

Several worthwhile hints as to the care of flowers were given by the various members, and first prize went to Mrs. Rousseau, for her interesting arrangement of deep blue asters in a white bowl. It was quite difficult to decide which arrangement was most effective, as they were all well done.

Among those attending were Mesdames F. O. McCoy, Horace Russ, Clarence Becker, Ruth Miller, L. J. Kern, J. P. Rousseau, Alice Agre-gard, John Saleeby, Karl Saleeby, Ben Peterson, A. G. Dantagnon, Frances Lawton, and A. M. Fleming. The latter will entertain the club at its next meeting.

The Clermont Harbor Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. J. Bonnetcarre, Thursday, July 28.

Those attending were: Mesdames John Saleeby, Jules Schroth, Karl Saleeby, J. G. Treutel, Ben Peterson, L. J. Kern, Sr., H. L. Weston, Sr., Grady Hucabee, J. P. Rousseau and Miss Madge Allred.

After the business meeting Miss Madge Allred, home demonstration agent, prepared salads showing how members simple ways in which to prepare it. Samples of the salads and cakes were served by the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krass, Jr., spent the weekend at their home on Railroad Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Haverty gave a weiner roast Tuesday, July 26 at their home in honor of their son, Buddy, who celebrated his seventh birthday.

The group of twenty-five had a wonderful time eating hot dogs, and candy and playing games.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Carrick will make their permanent residence on Bordage street.

Mr. Carrick was presented a retirement pin Saturday, July 30 after 35 years of service in the electrical department of the Pullman Co., in New Orleans.

Label and store in the coldest part of the refrigerator until the entire batch is prepared. Write your name, the date and the name of the product on the carton. Use a soft lead pencil, wax crayon or special ink.

Put filled containers in an insulated box for carrying to the community locker plant. The home demonstration agent has plans for making such a box.

If a home freezing unit is used, be sure to place each container against the compartment in one layer.

A V-8 FOR LESS THAN MANY OTHER "SIXES"

ONLY FORD in its field offers you a V-type 8-cylinder engine—the type of engine used in America's costliest cars. And you get this "eight"—the famous Ford V-8—for hundreds less than "Sixes" of 10 other makes.

There are more than 5,000,000 Ford V-8's on the road today! When you think of "V-8," you think of Ford V-8, and rightly so, because Ford, alone in its field, offers you this smoother, extra power. And Ford alone offers you a choice of this 100-h.p. V-8 or 95-h.p. Six.

This extra Ford power is part of the new Ford "Feel." With it comes Ford's new "Mid Ship" Ride... new 35% easier-acting "Magic Action" Brakes... the new 59% more rigid "Lifeguard" Body and frame. And to top all this, Ford has the New York Fashion Academy's medal for the "Fashion Car of the Year."
